

We started early and did a good job of completing most tasks within a reasonable timeline to unblock other dependent tasks. However, there were some tasks we did not properly analyze the difficulty of and the importance of completion in order to unblock others. This lead to some tasks being blocked until the last few days

